Learning Bonus Proposed

A new philosophy attracted supporters of public schools in the San Francisco Bay area the other day.

It proposed that parents would be paid if students became "A" achievers! It also proposed substantial raises for teachers if the youngsters were successful.

It was an experimental program approved by the Oakland Board of Education under which parents and teachers will get cash bonuses if students keep up with their reading and arithmetic lessons.

The report attracted the attention of State Senator H. L. Richardson of Arcadia who came close to apoplexy as he studied the proposal. His concern could be effective since he is vice chairman of the State Senate Committee on Education.

He was bulwarked by one school board member in the district in which the program was proposed. The member, David Tuckers, Jr., had dissented with the opinion that "parents shouldn't be paid for doing what they should be doing anyway."

Neither Richardson nor Tuckers needed to be reminded that teachers are already being paid to do what the bonus encourages them to do.

The proposal was that parents of each child would get up to $100 and teachers would get as much as $1,200 extra next year if students maintain their present pace of learning the two subjects.

The money would come from a $103,000 federal grant administered by an organization called Education Turnkey Systems. About 600 pupils would be involved. The control: Nobody in a class gets paid unless the whole class succeeds.

Senator Richardson, with a bit of biting sarcasm, replied with this reaction to Tuckers' negative posture:

"What a novel idea! How refreshing! Someone finally recognizes that we ARE paying teachers, that they are not all selfless, sacrificing lovers of little ones, giving their time magnanimously for the better of children, but that teachers are in fact paid government employees."

The school superintendent Marcus Foster defended the plan. He said, "Why not pay people to be parents if that's what needs to be done?"

Senator Richardson was not through. "How can parents allow this to go on? Don't they realize that this $103,000 federal grant is not money from a tree—it's their tax money. What it amounts to is double taxation. Not only do they have to pay for the school their children attend, the books and other learning materials, the school administration, the teachers—and now they are paying for the grades their children receive. And, paying the teachers extra benefits to make sure their children receive good grades."

"I've always harbored the novel idea," Richardson continued, "that teachers received salaries for teaching. Now, I discover that we're paying them to 'baby-sit' and must pay them extra if our children are to learn anything."

"Someone had to stay awake several nights to dream this one up. But what's truly unbelievable is that a high school board in Oakland bought the idea. Yet, only one person had the foresight and courage to speak out against the preposterous plan. To think that only one individual spoke out against putting a child's education on a monetary reward basis is a real tragedy," Richardson added.

"I get very lonely and sometimes very discouraged when concerned with the direction of our nation's youth," said Senator Richardson.

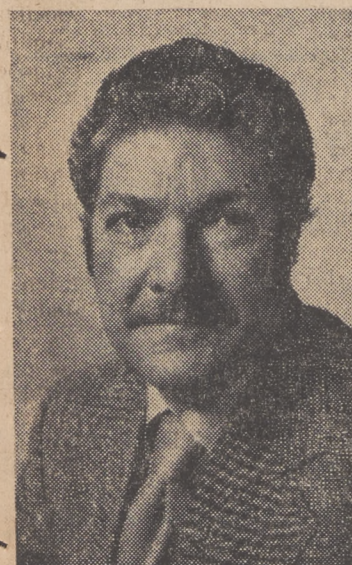

He suggests that distribution of this information can avert the same problem in other areas. "Constant watching is necessary if we are to save our most precious assets—our children," concluded the senator.

Good fortune deemed it that such a philosophy has not touched Lemon Grove's or Spring Valley's school districts. But it goes to show what can happen if school administration, teachers are not in synchronization.

Jack Frost Enters Race For Supervisor's Post

A Lake Murray man who is a Lemon Grove printer, announced his candidacy Tuesday for the San Diego County Board of Supervisors.

The man, Jack Frost, who is employed by the Homeland Publishing Co., addressed a group of supporters at Pal's Restaurant in Lemon Grove.

Jack Frost

"I'm as fed up as most people are with the so-called professional politicians," Frost told his audience. "Three separate national polls, for instance, showed that, in 1966, 70 per cent of the American people had confidence in their elected officials."

"Three polls, taken by the same organizations this year, showed that this 'confidence' had dropped to 38 per cent, and, obviously, it is still dropping."

Frost said people are fed up with shilly-shallying, with disguised corruption, with free-loading on the part of public officials, with 'deals,' and with money-wasting schemes.

"Now is the time to elect the people who will refuse to climb on the political bandwagon, who will reject deals of all kinds, and who will mirror the wishes of the people," Frost said.

As a result of the gerrymandering tactics by certain members of the Board of Supervisors, Frost doesn't even know who he'll run against.

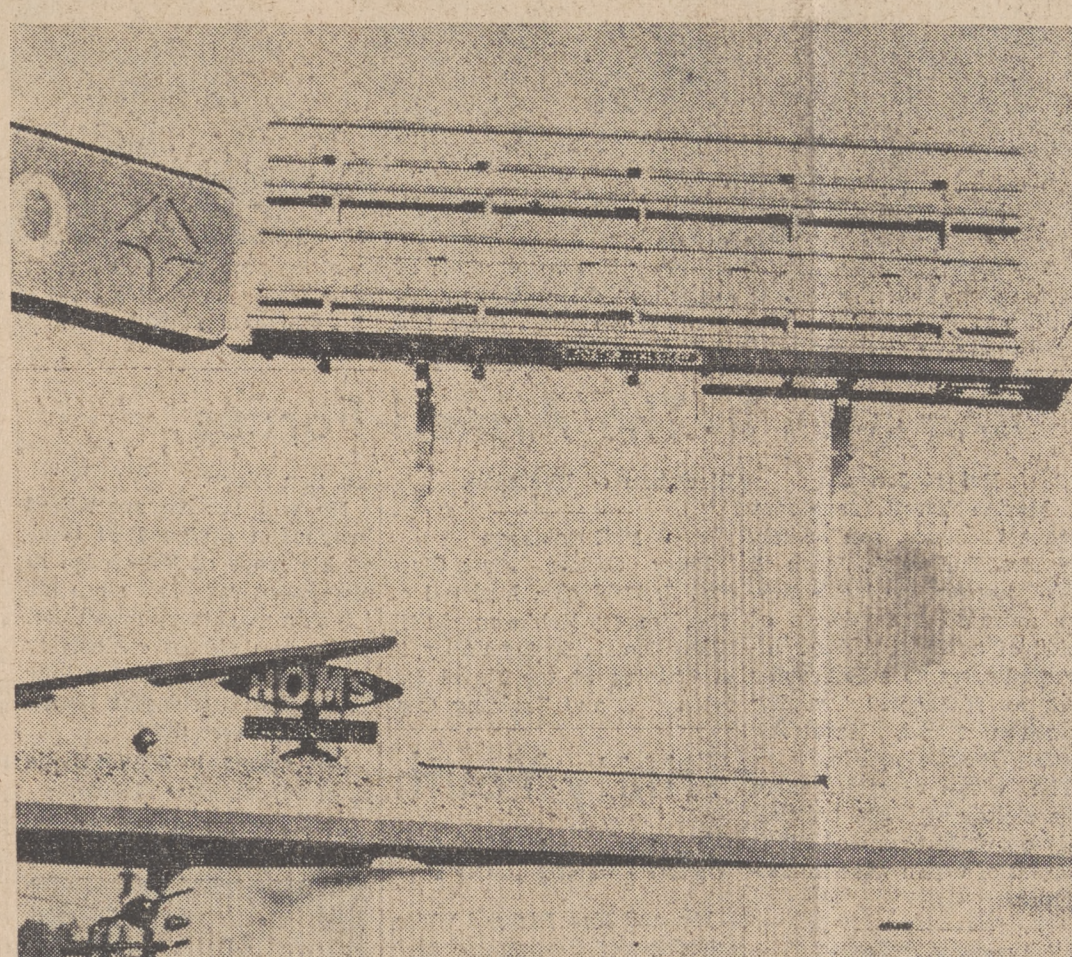

"Scheidt's or Boney's seat, I'll run for either, and without the 35 per cent increase in salary the present Board is requesting."

A printer by profession, a Navy veteran, Frost has both worked in printing businesses and owned them. He and Mrs. Frost live at 6845 Murray Park drive.

Developers To Seek Project OK Without L.G. Schools Agreement

Approval To Be Sought On Part Of Proposed Imperial-80 Project

LEGAL SIGN — Some questions as to the legality of an outdoor advertising sign at Broadway and Kempf have been raised, but research has indicated that it is entirely legal. The billboard, constructed by Foster and Kleiser Outdoor Advertising, was built after a moratorium on the billboards went into effect in the county. The permit for this one, however, was granted four days before the moratorium became effective. A spokesman for Foster and Kleiser indicated that the firm doesn't feel the sign contributes to the sight pollution problem of the area. He said that it is hoped that a public service message will be the first advertising on the 60-foot sign.

Planning Group's Dream

Hospital, Parks, Sidewalks Youth Programs for Lemon Grove

A quiet community of 35,000 with a similar project under the direction of the Planning Department.

Some of the objectives of the various committees are: Residential Goals — Ben Ela chairman: Land use control that would allow the present 26,000 population to grow no greater than 35,000.

Commercial and Industrial Goals — Ray Carmody chairman: Set aside enough commercial land to support the needs of the ultimate population.

Health and Social Services — George Coles, chairman: More land for recreational use. A health service center including a general hospital and a child care center. Transportation — Gil Moyers: Pave all roads and streets. Sidewalks on at least one side. Establish cycle and horse trails.

Parks and Recreations — Lucy Coles: Formation of a recreation district with land set aside for parks at strategic locations. Utilization of existing school facilities and the youth center. New school sites to be pinpointed. Additional youth center. Actively promote school facilities for non school use during non school hours. Sidewalks leading to all schools to be installed.

Environmental control — Frank Ball: Heavy landscaping along freeways to reduce noise and other pollution. Avert land use that would deteriorate the environment. Cut down visual and noise pollution. Avert high density population. Teach ecology and conservation in local schools.

Schools, Education and Public Facilities — Bob Mastny: Underground all utilities. Improve street lighting. Expand trash collection. Expand public library and its parking. Development of a community center to handle large public meetings. Encouragement and support of youth activities.

Ela said every sub-committee has submitted at least a partial report. When these are completed they will be integrated into a single entity.

An outline of these goals will be presented at a general meeting of the L.G. Planning Association to test the reaction. This meeting is tentatively scheduled for March 13 at L.G. Junior High auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Any local resident or persons with business or financial interest is invited to membership, said Jim Dorman, Association president.

All meetings are open to everyone, he added. A committee meeting is scheduled today at 3 p.m. at Golden Avenue auditorium.

Trustees of the Lemon Grove School District Monday evening discussed at length a switch in plans by the Pacific Bay Development Company for the proposed Imperial-80 subdivision.

Over 50 residents of the district, all outspoken against the development, packed the board room while Assistant Superintendent Paul Reynolds explained the latest developments in negotiations between the district and Pacific Bay.

The subdivision, if approved, would mean that 480 living units could be constructed in San Diego, with most of the development within the boundaries of the Lemon Grove School District.

Agreement Sought

The district has sought an agreement with the developers which would require Pacific Bay to provide temporary school facilities for children resulting from the subdivision, in accordance with San Diego City Policy 600-10.

It has been felt that the project would have a rough time being approved by the city unless the agreement is reached. However, the change in tactics by the developers may eventually stop the need for the agreement.

According to Reynolds, the developers have indicated that they will seek approval of a portion of the development — that portion outside the school district — at a hearing this morning at 9:30 a.m. before the City Council.

Leverage Suspected

Residents at Monday's meeting indicated that they felt that the developers, if the portion of the subdivision was approved, would try to use it, once constructed, as "leverage" in seeking approval for the remainder of the project.

The proposed portion, as shown to trustees, could very possibly cause traffic problems if approved. The developers could then offer the remainder of the project as a "solution" to the problem, it was felt.

While discussing the development, a letter was read to trustees supporting the district's efforts for an agreement and assailing the developers, calling Pacific Bay "incapable of making a reasonable offer", and urging the district to be "skeptical of any dealings".

The letter was signed by Mrs. Franklin R. Ball, corresponding secretary of the San Miguel PTA.

Hearing This Morning

Residents in attendance indicated that they would be at the City Council hearing this morning to speak against approval of the project. Trustees suggested that appearing at the hearing would be the best way to fight approval of the project.

District Superintendent Byron Netzel indicated that it should be made clear that the district's responsibility lies not in approving or disapproving of the project, but rather to make sure that the needs for students in the district are met. He said that making arrangements for facilities is the major problem with the subdivision from the district's standpoint.

In other action at the meeting, trustees approved minor changes in an agreement with the county superintendent for inservice teacher training, gave the green light to a human relations program, accepted a report on state test results, and approved a formal request for clarification from the state on the legality of psychological services.

Human Relations

The district received project approval for a $2,500 grant from the county for a human relations program, focusing on racial minorities. The program, which has been in effect for three years, calls for the employment of the Project Understanding staff.

'Cool' Bandits Rob Alpha Beta Market in L.G.

Two Negro males who hid in a milk cooler until the store was closed, were responsible for an armed robbery of Alpha Beta Market at 7117 Broadway, Lemon Grove, last week. Sheriff's reports indicate that the two robbers, both armed, waited until all customers had left the store before jumping employees.

The suspects then placed all the employees in the milk cooler with the exception of the night manager. While one of the bandits stayed and guarded the cooler, the other accompanied the manager to the store office, forcing him to open the safe.

After securing an undetermined amount of cash, the robbers placed the manager in the cooler and escaped via a back door.

The first suspect was described as in his 20's, about 5-8, 150 pounds, wearing a brown knit ski cap, a green scarf covering his face, a maroon jacket, and right-handed. He carried a short barreled blue revolver.

The second robber was described as 6-1, 150 pounds, in his 20's, wearing a dark colored baseball cap, a dark colored scarf about his face, a blue apron, and right-handed. He carried a long-barreled silver plated revolver.

3 Arrested in Burglary Case

Three Spring Valley juveniles were arrested in the garage of a Spring Valley residence last week on charges of burglary.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, the three youths were observed by neighbors as they knocked on the front door of 1202 Darby st., Spring Valley. After nobody answered, the trio went around to the back yard of the residence, climbed a fence, and entered the garage through a "dog door".

Neighbors then called the Sheriff's Department, and deputies apprehended the suspects while the alleged burglary was still in process.

Reports indicated that two of the youngsters were crouched in a corner of the garage when caught, while the third was hiding under a workbench.

Hausam To Make Asian Study Tour

A Spring Valley man, Richard L. Hausam, 30, of 3429 Scenic Terrace, was named last week to replace Jim Ashcraft on the 7-member Rotary study exchange team which will be traveling to Southeast Asia in February and March.

While searching the car, authorities discovered four pink capsules, three of which were in a cigarette box on the floor in the rear of the vehicle.

The San Diego youth volunteered that the box was his and that the pills were also his. He told deputies that the contraband was used to keep him awake at school and that he had purchased the pills from a friend at school.

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

Suffixes "ero" and "era" are helpful in building vocabulary in Spanish. Frequently these suffixes are added to noun forms to change the meaning of the word. For example, we may change "vinagre" (vinegar) to "vinagrero" (vinegar container) by adding the suffix "ero." The difference between the two words may be seen in the expression "Ella pone el vinagre en el vinagrero." (She places the vinegar in the vinegar container.)

"Aceite" (oil) may be changed to "aceitero" (oil container). These words are demonstrated in the phrases "El coche no tiene aceite." (The car does not have any oil.) and "El aceitero esta lleno." (The oil container is filled.)

"Sal" means "salt." We may convert this to "salero" which means "salt cellar" or "salt-shaker" for the table. Expressions which use these are "Hay salero en la mesa?" (Is there a salt shaker on the table?) and "Favor de poner sal en las papas." (Please put salt on the potatoes.)

"Te" is translated to "tea." This may be converted to "tetera" for "tea urn" or "tea pot." We may use these in phrases like "Yo tomo te con azucar." (I drink tea with sugar.) and "Favor de llenar la tetera." (Please fill the tea pot.)

"Cafe," pronounced "kah-FEE," is a popular word for "coffee." It may be converted to "cafetera" (coffee pot) by adding the suffix "era." We may wish to use these words in expressions like "El cafe tiene un sabor muy rico." (The coffee has a very rich flavor.) and "La cafetera esta en la estufa." (The coffee pot is on the stove.)

You may enjoy practicing the following phrases which show the changes in word structure and meaning when "ero" and "era" are added as a suffix. The recorded voice on 276-2762 will lead you in speaking.

IMPORTANT PHRASES:
Say "El salero esta vacio." (ehl sahl-LEH-roh eh-STAH vah-SEH-oh)
for "The salt shaker is empty."
Say "Favor de pasar la sal." (fah-VOHR deh pah-SAH) lah SAHL) for "Please pass the salt." Say "Donde esta el aceite?" (DOHN-deh eh-STAH ehl eh-STAH-ee-teh) for "Where is the oil?" Say "El aceitero esta lleno." (ehl ah-SEH-ee-TEH-roh eh-STAH YEH-noh) for "The oil container is full." Say "Favor de llenar la tetera." (fah-VOHR deh yeh-NAHR la teh-TEH-rah) for "Please fill the tea pot." Say "La cafetera esta en la estufa." (lah kah-feh-TEH-rah eh-STAH ehn la eh-STOO-fah) for "The coffee pot is on the stove."

Mothers' March Due To Start On Monday

An American tradition will continue Monday as March of Dimes volunteers ring neighborhood doorbells on behalf of the Mothers' March against birth defects.

Mrs. John F. Duffy, chairman of the annual San Diego Imperial drive, urged wholehearted support of the appeal to improve the quality of life at birth.

"Until we can protect some quarter of a million infants every year from lifelong handicaps, everyone must help," she explained. "In recent years, an increasing number of men have offered their services, too."

Teachers Association Endorses Candidates

Two candidates for the 76th Assembly district primary election scheduled for February 1 were endorsed by the San Diego Teachers Association last week, marking the first time that the organization has endorsed partisan candidates.

Republican Albert Van Zanten, of El Cajon, and Democrat Daniel W. Finnigan will receive support from the organization. The teachers association made the endorsements on the two candidates' educational backgrounds.

Van Zanten and Finnigan are running with 14 other candidates for the assembly seat vacated by Pete Wilson, who resigned to take over as Mayor of San Diego.

BACK IN BUSINESS — The Grossmont College Art Gallery, after a disastrous fire in November of 1970, has been rebuilt and is back in operation, with a show of recent sculptures by State College instructor John Rogers to open soon. (Mark Coffin photo)

RUINS — After the fire destroyed the art gallery at the college, and caused severe damage to surrounding classrooms, only rubble was left. The fire, which was believed to be started by a kiln, caused about $400,000 damage. The rebuilt facility is open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday when exhibits are on display.

College Art Gallery Is Re-Opened

The Grossmont College Art Department celebrated its reopening of the campus art gallery last week when the college's permanent collection of art acquisitions was exhibited.

The gallery, closed since a disastrous fire in November of 1970, will again be used to display the works of both faculty and students, as well as visiting artists. Student work will be displayed in conjunction with all exhibits scheduled for 1972. Their work, including paintings, drawings, photographs, ceramics and sculptures, will be for sale.

The Grossmont College Art Department Faculty Show will open April 10 with an all-media exhibit by all ten members of the art department. The annual faculty show will be followed by an exhibit of hand-blown glass by James Wayne, San Jose City College instructor. Wayne's work will be displayed from May 8 to 26. The annual student art show will open June 5 to complete the art department exhibit schedule.

Both Rogers and Wayne are nationally known and both have displayed work in many one-man shows and group exhibits. The Grossmont College art gallery will remain open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday during the run of each show.

Opening next week at the gallery will be a show of recently sculptured worked by San Diego State College Art instructor John Rogers. The exhibit will run through March 13.

Helix DECA Is State's Top Chapter

The Helix High School distributive education club is California's top chapter for 1971-72.

The last two years it has placed first in public speaking and won second place with its marketing information manual.

All students can join; there are no set limitations on membership. DECA sponsors many activities which involve all members and compete against other clubs locally and nationally in many different categories, such as advertising, display, and sale demonstrating.

"You learn while you work," said Robert Lent, Helix DECA advisor.

DECA's main purpose is to acquaint the students with the business world and to promote leadership.

Demonstration Set at Library

Decoupage, a revived ancient art, will be demonstrated by Anita Anderson at the Lemon Grove Branch of the San Diego County Library February 8, at 10:30 a.m.

Junior High Musicians In Two Area Festivals

A spring schedule which includes entry in two area festivals has been announced by Harry Weisgerber, band and orchestra director for Lemon Grove Junior High School.

Students will participate in the South County Festival for Solo and Ensemble at San Diego State College, Feb. 19. The South County Festival for Band and Orchestra takes place at Crawford High School, Mar. 4. Last year's orchestra won a superior rating in similar competition at Southwestern College.

A brass choir will represent Lemon Grove Junior High at a Feb. 28 meeting of the San Diego City and County Music Educators Association to be held at the House of Hospitality in Balboa Park.

Membership in the Music Parents' Associations has reached 138, according to chairman Charles Barcus. The total is just 12 short of the goal set by the group which represents parents of students in the Lemon Grove Junior High music department.

The Music Parents' recent candy drive was very successful, according to Weisgerber. Final sales figures are still being tabulated but the amount is close to $1,400, said Mrs. Carl Pinto, ways and means chairman.

Semester To Start

Day adult classes, to be in session from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, will begin Monday at Santee Day Adult School, 8925 Cuyamaca, Santee, it was announced last week.

Included in the class schedule for the spring semester will be 38 classes which can lead to a vocational certificate in secretarial training or a high school diploma, according to principal Donald Karlson.

There is no tuition charges at the school, but students must purchase their own books. Over 500 adults are enrolled each year, Karlson said.

Matadors Lose Miller, Pair Of Hoop Games

By Paul Stark

The Mt. Miguel Matadors, without star guard Tim Miller, were no match for the Helix Highlanders last Tuesday afternoon and lost a heart-breaker to Santana Friday night to complete a winless week and drop from among the league's top teams.

Mt. Miguel, just beginning to come around after Miller sat out several weeks of pre-season play with a sprained ankle, was dealt a blow that will probably keep the Matadors out of CIF post-season action when Miller chipped two bones in his foot.

Mt. Miguel was expecting a good battle with Helix in the Tuesday game, and took a 2-0 lead after five seconds were gone in the first period on a shot from Miller. All hopes of winning the game vanished moments later when Miller crashed into Helix guard Jim Aunan when he attempted to set a screen.

Without Miller, the Matadors fell behind by a 26-13 count after the first period, and the Highlanders continued to a 47-27 advantage by half-time.

In the third period, Helix kept shooting well and stretched the margin to 30 points, 70-40, despite 11 points in the period from Mt. Miguel's Mark Dobransky.

Midway through the final stanza, with the game's outcome not in doubt both Helix and Mt. Miguel flooded the floor with reserves, with the Highlanders coming out on top, 87-61.

On Friday, Mt. Miguel took on the Santana Sultans, and lost the game in the final seconds when Geoff Hinkle swished a pair of free throws and Mark Dobransky missed a last-second shot that would have tied things.

In the first quarter, neither team looked too impressive, as Hinkle, playing with an injury, didn't hit the hoops well, and Mt. Miguel, without Miller, had ball handling woes. Going into the second stanza, Santana held an 18-13 advantage.

In the second quarter, Mt. Miguel started hitting on outside shots and managed to draw even with the Sultans late in the quarter, and led at half-time by two points, 31-29.

Mt. Miguel forged further ahead in the third frame, collecting leads of 40-33 and 49-43 before Santana narrowed the gap to four tallies going into the final quarter.

Mt. Miguel went out earlier and bounced away to a 57-50 advantage, but Santana's defense stiffened at that point, and as the game drew to its exciting finish, the score stood at 59-59 with a minute and a half remaining.

The Sultans, playing for the last shot of the game, stalled, until with six seconds remaining, Geoff Hinkle drew a two-shot foul. The hobbling superstar hit both shots to give the Sultans the two-point edge as Mt. Miguel inbounded the ball.

The Matadors quickly got the ball downcourt and fed Mark Dobransky, who got off his 15-foot jumper with two seconds showing on the clock. The ball rolled off the rim, however, as the horn sounded, and Santana had the victory.

Tonight, Mt. Miguel will see more league action when they travel to El Cajon for a game with the Braves at 8 p.m. Mt. Miguel took an 85-55 decision from the Braves in an earlier meeting this season.

Gulls Home For Pair Of Tough Games

The San Diego Gulls come home from a long stint on the road to play a pair of important games this week — hosting the Seattle Totems at the Sports Arena tonight and facing off against the Phoenix Roadrunners on Sunday night.

Tonight's game is the first home appearance by the Gulls in almost two weeks. Their last home game was a 4-3 loss to Salt Lake on Saturday night, January 15.

Against Seattle, the Gulls hold a big series edge. San Diego is 2-0-1 at the Sports Arena and carried a 4-1-0 edge into Tuesday night's game at Seattle. The 6-1-1 margin that the Gulls had over the Totems at the start of the week is their biggest series edge this season.

In the series, Bob Courcy, Gerry Goyer and Al Nicholson have been the big gunners. Courcy had seven goals and nine assists for 16 points, Goyer had 15 points (five goals, 10 assists) and Nicholson had 14 points (six goals, eight assists) going into Tuesday's games.

Goalie Jack McCartan carried a 4-0-1 record and a 1.60 average against the Totems.

The series against Phoenix is a bit different. The Roadrunners hold a 4-2-2 edge at the halfway mark of the seasonal series. The Gulls are 1-1-1 at the Sports Arena and 1-3-1 in Phoenix. Five of the remaining eight games of the series will be played at the Sports Arena.

The two teams have played with great gusto against each other. The first eight games of the series produced 499 minutes in penalties — 268 to Phoenix and 231 to San Diego.

In last week's action, the Gulls split a pair of road games; beating Salt Lake, 5-3, and losing to Phoenix, 7-5.

Newcomer Rene LeClerc broke a 2-2 tie with a goal early in the third period (Continued on Page 7)

Padres Pre-Spring Workout Starts Monday at Stadium

The Padres have invited a dozen players to attend a pre-spring training instructional camp opening Monday at San Diego Stadium.

The drills will be conducted daily starting at 11 a.m. and the public is invited to attend without charge.

Players participating in the workouts include pitchers Bill Greif, Jay Franklin, Larry Hardy, Bob Graetzky, Mark Schaeffer and Mike Caldwell; infielders Derral Thomas and Ulysees Wilson; outfielders John Scott and Leron Lee and catcher Mike Ivie.

This is the first time the Padres have conducted such a camp and the public will have a pre-season look at recently acquired players such as Greif and Thomas as well as such exciting young players as Ivie, Caldwell, Wilson and Scott.

The drills will be under the direction of Padre coaches Roger Craig, Dave Garcia and Bob Skinner.

Although the program is especially designed to offer the players specialized instruction that might hasten their development, it is also expected that several veterans living in the San Diego area will participate in the workouts.

The Padres also plan to schedule several informal games with area teams to which the public will be invited.

"The basic purpose of the camp is to offer specialized instruction to our younger, more inexperienced players," explained Bob Fontaine, director of scouting.

The Padres open their spring exhibition schedule on March 3 playing the Mexico City Reds in Mexico City.

They play three games in Mexico City, all with the Reds of the Mexican League: Friday night, March 3 at 5:30 p.m. Pacific Standard Time, Saturday at 2 p.m. PST and Sunday at 9:30 a.m. PST.

The first spring training workout for the squad was on Wednesday, February 23, at Yuma, Arizona.

The Padres will play a 24-game Cactus League schedule with the opening game Friday, March 10 at Yuma against the California Angels.

The team begins its 1972 National League schedule in San Francisco April 6 and will open their home season in San Diego Stadium on Friday, April 14 against the Atlanta Braves.

Monte Vista, Sults Top Prep Schedule

By John Nicholson

The usual ration of eight games of basketball will be played next week, along with a full slate of wrestling and soccer contests. The list of games and probable winners follows:

Basketball

Mount Miguel at El Cajon tonight. This game marks the beginning of the second round of play, and Mt. Miguel shouldn't have much trouble winning over the same team it beat earlier by 30 points.

Mt. Miguel by 10.
Monte Vista at Santana tonight. Santana won the first contest between these two teams, and will probably win the rematch, although not by as much. Santana by six.

El Capitán at Helix tonight. It will take a minor miracle for the Vaqueros to get away with the win over Helix, but it's possible. Helix by 11.

Granite Hills at Grossmont tonight. Grossmont is rolling toward the loop championship, and the Eagles won't be able to stop the Hiller express. Grossmont by 15.

Thursday games will be at 8 p.m.

Granite Hills at Monte Vista Tuesday. This game could blossom into a real barnburner, as Monte Vista has improved since the last time these two teams met and Granite Hills won. Monte Vista by two.

Santana at El Cap Tuesday. The Sultans continue to look impressive, and the once-hot Vags have cooled off considerably. Sultans by ten.

Grossmont at Mt. Miguel Tuesday. While Mt. Miguel wasn't actually blown off the court last time, the Hillers did win decisively, and are a good bet to do it again. Grossmont by 26.

Helix at El Cajon Tuesday. The game will pit Helix, the league's fastest team, against the Braves, who have often used "slow-down" tactics. El Cajon has little chance, so it's Helix by 30.

Tuesday games are at 4:30 p.m.

Wrestling

Santana at Monte Vista tonight. Santana has looked pretty good, but not good enough to upend the Monarchs. Monte Vista by eight points.

Grossmont at Granite Hills tonight. Grossmont will win the first three matches and possibly one other, but the Eagles will ride to victory on the remaining matches. Eagles by 18.

Helix at El Cap tonight. Helix this year doesn't have the usual strong team it sends to the mats, but it's strong enough to beat El Cap. Helix by 15.

El Cajon at Mount Miguel tonight. This match could be the closest of the week, pitting the upstart Braves against the once-beaten Matadors. Mt. Miguel should win without much ado, however. Matadors by five.

Wrestling matches begin at 8 p.m.

Soccer

Grossmont at Kearney Friday at 3 p.m. Kearney is the better team, but Grossmont has been improving of late, and could conceivably knock off the Komets. Kearney by a goal.

Mt. Miguel at Granite Hills Friday at 3 p.m. No trouble here for Mt. Miguel, as the Eagles haven't shown much. Matadors by three goals.

Monarchs Beaten By Highlanders' Press

By Tom Blattler

The Helix Highlanders, led by senior guard Jim Aunan, ran over the winless Monte Vista Monarchs, 68-51, last Friday night in the Highlanders' gym.

The 6-foot-2 Aunan hit on only two field goals all night, but he connected on 12 of 13 free throw attempts for a game high of 16 points. The Highlanders' junior forward, Wilbert Olinde, also threw in 16 markers on eight field goals.

Aunan showed some excellent leadership and had some fantastic assists on fast breaks. Olinde, a 6-foot-6 forward, was the contest's leading rebounder with 13 boards.

Senior center Gary Ely of Helix was the game's third leading scorer with 15 points, as he helped the Highlander attack in the second half. The top point producer for Monte Vista was junior forward Steve Smith with 12 points.

The Monarchs' Carl Zemlick threw in 11, as Rick Baker and Greg Burness each had 10. Burness played an excellent game at both ends of the court, and also led the Monarch fast break at times.

Monte Vista started out quickly, as the Monarchs had a blazing fast break. The Highlanders could not hit their shots and Monte Vista led at the end of the first quarter, 13-12.

Helix played excellent defense in the second period, and held the Monarchs to just nine points. But the Highlanders could only manage 12 themselves and only led by two at halftime, 24-22. Aunan and his backcourt mate Dennis Dupree led the Helix attack in that stanza.

The third quarter was the turning point in the contest, as the Highlanders employed a full-court press that gave the Monarchs fits. Helix then started its fine fast break, and by the end of the period the Highlanders led by 15, 46-31. Helix outscored the Monarchs, 22-9, in that third stanza.

The fourth quarter was pretty much of a standstill as Helix scored 22 points to Monte Vista's 20. Olinda led his team in this period, as he scored on jumpers, grabbed rebounds, and blocked shots.

The Highlanders' record is now 5 wins against one loss in Grossmont League play. Monte Vista has yet to win a contest in six attempts.

The Monte Vista squad must now meet the Santana Sultans tomorrow night in the Sultans' gym. The game starts at 8 p.m. Santana won the first contest between the schools, as senior guard Geoff Hinkle gunned in 41 points. Hinkle has since been hampered by a foot injury which has kept him out of a couple of league contests this year.

Sports World To Focus on Week-end AWSO

SAN DIEGO — Eyes of the sports world focus on the Torrey Pines golf course this weekend as the fifth annual Andy Williams San Diego Open swings into its final rounds. The tourney began Tuesday with a two-day Pro-Am followed by the 72-hole Open which winds up Sunday around 4 p.m.

The tourney will be telecast nationally over ABC on Saturday from 3-4 p.m. and Sunday 2:30-4 p.m. Play in the Open starts at 7 a.m. on the weekends and at approximately 8:45 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

George Archer, winner of the year's first event, the Los Angeles Open, defends the title he won here last year with a record 272 total. His formidable competition includes the number one and two money winners of 1971, Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino. Nicklaus won the recent Bing Crosby National Pro-Am in a playoff with young Johnny Miller, who will also play here.

Other famed golfers in the sterling field include Miller Barber, Bruce Crampton, Jerry Heard, Tom Weiskopf, Dave Hill and Doug Sanders.

Golfers from San Diego County include Gene Littler, Phil Rodgers, John Schroeder and Chuck Courtney of La Jolla; Bill Casper of Bonita; Tom Jacobs of La Costa; Bill Brask, San Diego; Victor Regalado of Tijuana; and Cesar Sanudo, San Diego.

Tickets for the tourney are available at the gates.

'Dracula' Opens at USIU Center For Performing Arts

United States International Company production of "Dracula," which opened Wednesday for an eight-performance run, is presented as it was originally written: as a pure horror play.

To sustain the high professional quality which the USIU School of Performing Arts, 350 Cedar st., as producers of the International Company series have established with prior shows, for this latest presentation, Richard Vath of Hollywood and New York, was retained as Director.

A magna cum laude graduate of the famed Pasadena Playhouse, Vath has a prestigious background as an actor and director. Some of his directing credits include "The Odd Couple," with Dana Andrews and Don Ameche; "Barefoot in the Park," with Virginia Mayo and Lyle Talbot; "Under the Yum Yum Tree," with Margaret O'Brien and Tab Hunter; and many more.

"Dracula," which will be staged Wednesdays through Saturdays, through Feb. 5, nightly at 8:30 p.m. in Theatre East in the USIU Center for the Performing Arts, was first presented as a drama in London in 1927 and has been a favorite of stage and motion picture audiences ever since. The play version is based on the novel by Bram Stoker.

As the lead, Dracula, Vath has cast Ron Ray, long a local favorite and himself a professional actor with successful appearances in television, on stage, radio and motion pictures in New York, Australia, Hollywood and San Diego. Ray has performed leading roles in musical comedy, drama and appeared with San Diego's Old Globe summer Shakespearean Festival.

Rounding out the cast are Jo Strand, former Miss South Dakota, as Lucy; Dan Millington, formerly with the Newport Community Theatre, as John Harker; Walt Starr as Van Helsing; Howard Muhleman as Seward; Elicia Walker as the Maid; and Bob Gibson as Renfield.

Costumes were designed by Catherine Hand, faculty member of USIU's School of Performing Arts; Sets were designed by Peter Clemens, likewise a SPA faculty member; Lighting was designed by John David Peters; Choreographer for "Dracula's Wedding Feast" was Connie Kennedy; Stage Manager is Kitty Amidon; Assistant to the Director is Darryl Allara; Head Electrician is Eric Keel; Properties Mistress is Carol Carothers.

Drug Scene Series To Continue

Grossmont Hospital and Grossmont College will continue their public forum series titled "Drug Scene Today," when Dr. David A. Deitch speaks on the sociological, cultural and historical psychological implications of drug use and abuse, at 7:30 p.m. to night in the Grossmont Hospital Auditorium.

The six-session series is aimed at promoting involvement and action through knowledge and communication. The series is especially designed for teachers and other professional people, as well as all concerned citizens.

Dr. Deitch, presently assistant clinical professor in the Department of Psychiatry, University of California San Diego Medical School, and clinical director of drug abuse programs in the Department of Psychiatry, has had extensive experience in various agencies dealing with drug addiction.

He served as director of training and education for the Illinois Drug Abuse Program, and was co-director of rehabilitation for the City of New York Addiction Services Agency. He also served as associate director of Synanon Foundation, Inc.

He has served as a consultant to governmental agencies, concerned with narcotics, drug use and abuse throughout the United States. He has published numerous articles on the subjects of drug addiction and psychiatry. He is considered one of the country's leading authorities on drug abuse and addiction and drug use education teacher training.

The LSD Story

DEFY hot line workers report more questions are asked about LSD and other hallucinogens than any other type drug except barbiturates. Callers want to know how to recognize LSD, how can LSD hurt one, does LSD always cause flashbacks, and is it addicting? Some answers are given in this column. For other questions, call the DEFY hot line, 297-3339.

LSD Comes In Many Forms

LSD, the highly publicized illegal drug that sends a user off on an ureal "trip," is still in plentiful supply in San Diego County. The drug comes in many forms. It can be a powder, a capsule or different colored pills. It can be impregnated in paper or a "window pane" which is LSD mixed in gelatin, hardened and cut into small squares.

LSD has been added to a variety of other substances and even foods. Apparently LSD has lost some of its popularity because dealers in illegal drugs have been passing it off lately as mescaline, "organic" mescaline, STP, Psilocybin or any other hallucinogen that they think users might buy. In all instances lately in which drug identification has been requested for mescaline, the illegal drug by chemical test has been LSD.

A Powerful And Dangerous Drug

LSD is available only from illegal sources. The dosage is never predictable. It is a very powerful drug. A speck of LSD can affect the user for from eight to ten hours. Striking distortions may occur in the physical senses as to what the user sees, touches, smells and hears. A single ounce is enough to provide "trips" for 300,000 users. The good or bad LSD trip varies greatly, depending upon the amount of LSD which is taken, the personality of the user, his expectations, the setting in which the drug is taken, and other factors.

No Magical Properties

Does LSD have the magical properties ascribed to it by some devotees who claim they are more creative and/or have deeper religious insights while under its influence? The answer is "no." During the LSD "trip," the individual loses his ability to discriminate and evaluate.

It is very common for a user to believe that the music he has composed or the painting he has painted is far greater than what he could have done without using the drug. However, scientific experiments have proven that this is solely within the mind of the LSD user. Research studies, carried out under laboratory conditions, comparing an individual's creative ability before and after LSD experiences, revealed no significant increase in the person's abilities.

Chromosome Research

Whether or not LSD causes chromosomal breaks is still under study. Until further research throws more light on the question, scientists warn women of child-bearing age against playing chemical roulette with a drug which may cause birth defects in babies.

First Aid For LSD Victims

Two things can be done for a person experiencing anxiety and fright while on LSD.

1. "Talk him down." That is, speak in a reassuring manner. LSD makes a person very suggestible; so suggest positive feelings. Use short simple sentences. What you don't say, "Everything is all right." He knows it isn't! Say instead something such as, "You're doing fine so far. You are in touch with reality. You're not going crazy." Get him to talk back to you.

2. If behavior becomes uncontrollable or if the bad trip continues too long or the fear is severe, take him to a hospital. Be sure you have someone else drive or sit in the back seat with the LSD tripper. Continue to talk to him enroute to the hospital. Although LSD use is illegal, he will not be arrested when seeking treatment in San Diego County hospitals. Appropriate treatment will be given at the hospital to help him return to his normal state more quickly. Never give a LSD user on a bad "trip" another drug. The results can be very severe.

Record Holders Join Indoor Show

World long jump record holder Bob Beamon will be the headliner in his specialty at the Feb. 19 San Diego Indoor Games. It was announced by Meet Director Tony Succi.

Beamon set the world record of 29-2 1/4 enroute to winning the title in the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico City. No jumper other than Beamon has ever recorded a legal jump in excess of 28-feet.

Competing unattached, Beamon took third in the Sun-kist Invitational in Los Angeles last Saturday night with a leap of 25-1.

Six of the nation's top shot putters, headed by Karl Salb and Steve Wilhelm, have announced they will compete in the Feb. 19 Games.

The games will be held at the Sports Arena.

Warriors Face Champ Bucks In Arena Tues.

San Diego — An appearance by 7-2 Kareem Abdul Jabbar and his world champion Milwaukee Bucks teammates provides the next-to-last local contest in 1971-72 for the National Basketball Association Golden State Warriors, Tuesday.

The San Diego Sports Arena tipoff will be at 8 p.m., with a pre-game and half-time display of court antics featuring the PSA Jets' girls basketball squad against a team of area radio and television personalities.

Milwaukee romped to the NBA title last year and is a potent threat to repeat that honor. The Bucks reeled off 17 wins in their first 18 games this season and hold a healthy lead in the league's Midwest Division.

Headlining the Milwaukee cause is awesome center Oscar Robertson. Jabbar, formerly known as Lew Alcindor, is out to repeat as the NBA's most prolific point maker.

Last year, he took scoring laurels with a 31.7 average, was named the league's most valuable player, was the top vote getter on the all-star team and won a national magazine's award as the MVP of the championship series.

The 1971-72 season has him leading the scoring race at a 33.4 clip, second in field goal percentage and third in rebounds.

'Our Only World' Is SV PTA Theme

"Our World — It's The Only One We Have!" is the subject for the regular monthly PTA Unit Meeting of Spring Valley Junior High School. It will be held in the auditorium tonight at 7:30.

The eighth grade team working with Messrs. Dion, Thomas, Haworth, Fox and Mrs. Franklin have been studying the environment in which they live with some emphasis on the school and Spring Valley.

They have taken slides and pictures, conducted interviews on tapes, and prepared materials that relate to the ecological problems, present and future of their neighborhood.

These students will share their findings at the PTA meeting.

Supervisors Vote Sups. 5.5% Raise

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — County Supervisors will get a nice New Year's present next Jan. 8, if all goes well.

They voted Tuesday to raise the level of their salaries to $22,000 a year with the amount going into effect when three supervisors take office after an election year.

The board also voted for a 5.5 percent raise along the guidelines set by the Federal Wage Board with another 5.5 percent raise to go into effect at the end of the wage freeze year, Nov. 14.

Wage board approval would need to be gained for the board to reach the $22,000 level. The board must also get a court ruling that elected officials can get mid-term raises in contradiction to the county charter.

County Counsel Robert Berrey said he believed the ruling can be obtained since the charter is badly out of phase with the state law.

Actually, the board's real decision will not be known until Berrey next week presents an ordinance outlining what actions were taken Tuesday.

against Salt Lake, and the Gulls scored twice more in the period. Golden Eagle goalie Wayne Rutledge made 41 saves in the game as the Gulls got rolling offensively. Len Ronson and Orest Kin-drachuk each had a goal and an assist in the game.

All ladies receive a discount on tickets to the game, and will receive a discount coupon for a fine John Morrell meat product as they enter the Sports Arena. Additionally, there will be a drawing for two John Morrell treasures of meat samplers.

Neal's understudy, Frank Streety, has shown much progress since he made the grade in rookie camp last summer. General manager George Gillett thinks Streety is as good a dribbler as the team ever has had.

The Trotters also will present an outstanding entertainment program before the game and at halftime. Proceeds again will go to the Sigma Delta Chi scholarship fund. Tickets are on sale at the Sports Arena, and at Central Ticket Agencies.

The program, sponsored by the UCSD International Club, will be presented in 2722 Undergraduate Sciences Building on the Revelle College campus. Hannes Alfvén, Nobel laureate and UCSD professor of applied physics in residence, will preside over the discussion.

interest specialists. We will not accept the large donations that will require future favors but will hope to get many small contributions from all sections of the voting public.

A special, hard look should be taken at area housing developments, Frost said. He cited Rancho San Diego, with an eventual announced goal of 70,000 inhabitants as an example of a development that could break a school district.

A building moratorium is not the answer. This would put thousands of people out of work. What we need, and need now, is to meet with the contractors and subdividers, and draw up enabling legislation that would bring about an equitable solution to furnishing all services in new developments.

Frost said that he has heard many complaints from people who have tried to get in touch with their supervisor on legitimate business—and failed.

"They'll see their backsides like a shot, but they're too often out to the working man, on the senior citizen who has a problem," Frost said.

"I hereby declare that, if elected, any citizen will be able to get through to me at any time—day, night or weekends. I will be the employee of the people, and I have always been considered to be a good employee."

The class meets Monday through Friday from 1 to 3 p.m. in Room 816 at Crawford High School, 4191 35th street. Further information may be obtained by calling 583-2500. Interested students may enroll by attending the first session.

ty, state, and nation. In grade 3 results, the district tested above average for the county and state, but lower than the national norm. Grade 6 tested about average on all levels.

Sutton noted that the results indicated improvement over past years and credited the Miller-Unruh reading program with part of the improvement.

Regarding psychological services, trustees were informed that the County Counsel's Office has ruled that the State Education Code does not allow school districts to contract for psychological services. However, such contracting is allowed in Los Angeles, Orange, and Ventura County, through the interpretations of respective County Counsels.

It was suggested to the district that a formal request for clarification be made to the State Department of Education, asking the department to seek an Attorney General's opinion.

Trustees approved the move.

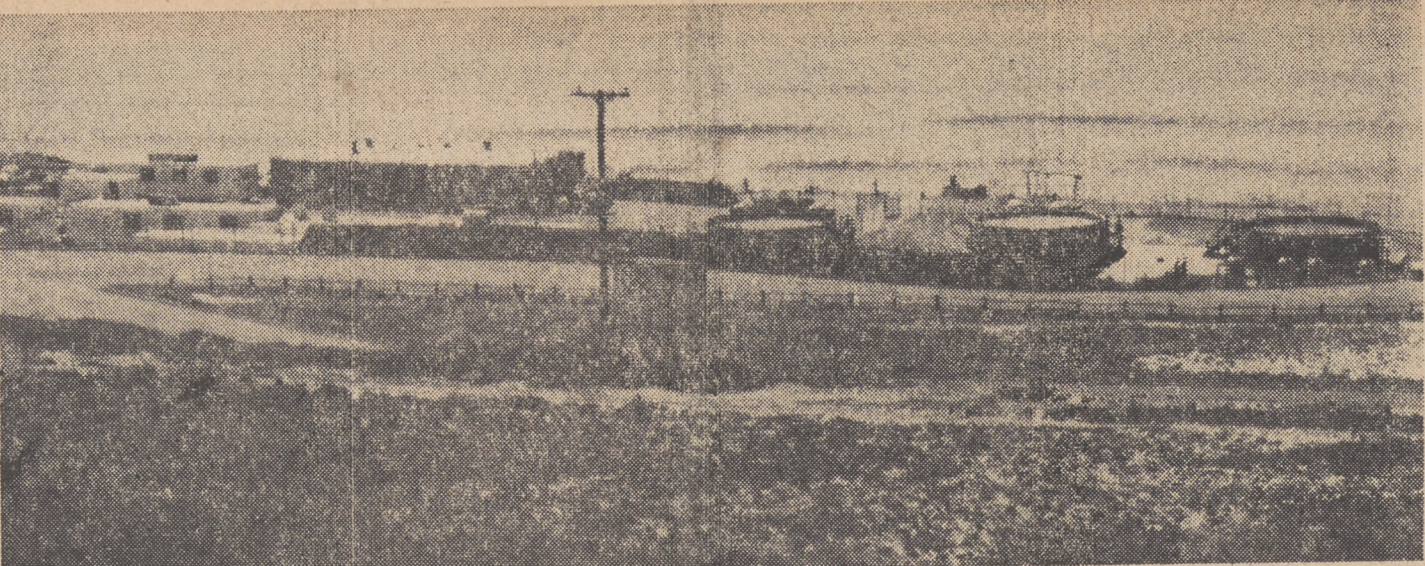

Textile Class Set at Crawford

A Regional Occupational Program in "Textiles, Fabrication and Sales" will be offered at Crawford High School, starting Monday at 1 p.m.

The course will be open to adults and high school students, men and women. The program is designed to train people for jobs in the needle trades such as the clothing manufacturing industry, drapery making, alterations and mending, custom dressmaking, upholstering and related types of work requiring the skill of operating a power sewing machine.

The class meets Monday through Friday from 1 to 3 p.m. in Room 816 at Crawford High School, 4191 35th street. Further information may be obtained by calling 583-2500. Interested students may enroll by attending the first session.

Among his full length plays are "Little Murders" and "The White House Murder Case." Feiffer also wrote the original screenplay for the film "Canal Knowledge."

DEDICATION — A new Marine Life Science Laboratory of the Naval Undersea Research and Development Center was dedicated in ceremonies Wednesday. The new marine mammal facilities are somewhat smaller than those located at Point Mugu, Calif., the previous site for marine mammal research.

Dr. C. Scott Johnson, head of the Marine Bio-Science Division of the Ocean Sciences Department, said that the Point Loma Laboratory has about half the total water volume as the old facility's tanks, but said that the four new tanks would provide other advantages.

Cartoonist's Play To Open

Popular cartoon characters created by Jules Feiffer provide the newest entertainment at the Cassius Carter Centre Stage. "Feiffer's People" opens a limited run tonight with performances nightly except Monday.

The Old Globe Theatre production was compiled and directed by Charles Vernon from a variety of sources. Original music for "Feiffer's People" was composed by Harold C. Brendle, Jr. Lyrics have been written by Wayne Smith and Gloria Brendle.

No American tradition is too sacred for Feiffer to comment upon through his cartoons. He deflates egos, denounces prejudices, pokes fun at frustrations, explores fantasies and belittles fears.

Feiffer's cartoons began appearing in the New York area in the early 1950's. His works have since been published in numerous leading newspapers as well as Playboy Magazine. Several books have been published of his cartoons.

Open House Scheduled At Detoxification Center

San Diego County's new Alcohol Detoxification Center will be open to the public for inspection during open house from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow. The 100-bed sobering-up facility is located at 1111 Island ave., San Diego.

The Alcohol Detoxification Center was made possible by the County Board of Supervisors. It will be administered by the Department of Public Health.

Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health, said that starting Feb. 1, the center's sobering-up services will be available to any male who wants them if he goes to the center of his own accord, is taken there by a physician or is referred by a physician or law enforcement officers.

"A drunk will be admitted to the center if he is conscious, non-violent and not in acute medical distress," Dr. Askew said. "Those not eligible for admission will be assisted and referred to other care facilities."

He added that each person's stay at the Detoxification Center is voluntary. The usual length of stay will be a day and a half.

From the time it first goes into service, the Detoxification

Center will always be open, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with a registered nurse and male nurse assistants on constant duty. A physician will make routine sick call and will be available on emergency call.

"The services of the Detoxification Center are aimed at helping those people who want to be helped," Dr. Askew said. "After a person is sobered up, he will have an orientation with professional workers. They will help him determine whether he wants to overcome his alcoholic problem by entering into a program of rehabilitation that will take more time than is available at the Detoxification Center."

One of the strong points of the center's service, he added, is that all agencies concerned with alcoholism in the community will work with the Detoxification Center in providing long-range rehabilitation services to those alcoholics who want more help.

"Orientation and discussion with personnel from all health and social agencies in the community will enable the alcoholic to choose the particular agency whose help he feels he most needs," Dr. Askew explained.

Clair Burgener Seeks 42nd Dist. Seat in Congress

State Senator Clair W. Burgener Monday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the new 42nd Congressional District covering east and north San Diego County and a portion of Orange County. Part of Spring Valley is in the district.

"In terms of preparation for public office I am a firm believer in coming up through the ranks. I know of no short cuts to high public office. Legislative experience is going to be extremely important if the interests of this rapidly growing area are to be effectively represented. I am now in my 14th year of elective public office. This includes four years in local government as a city councilman, four years as an Assemblyman in the State Legislature, and I am currently serving my sixth year as a State Senator," Burgener said.

Senator Burgener has authored key legislation in the field of education and was the author of the bill giving local elementary and secondary school districts authority to change to year-round operation. He is a recognized leader in the field of handicapped children and serves as Vice-Chairman of President Nixon's Committee on Mental Retardation. He formerly served as Chairman of the Senate Committee on Social Welfare and was the author of Governor Reagan's welfare reform proposals.

The new law (AB 2887), signed by the Governor last December 9, has created havoc with community college educational and financial planning. It eliminates interdistrict attendance agreements and college programs for physically handicapped and mentally retarded students, and permits 18-year-old students from other states to establish "instant residency" and thus avoid paying out-of-state tuition charges, for which the colleges now collect nearly $2.2 million.

The Association plans to sponsor additional legislation correcting these and other problems caused by the new law.

Virginia Miller, who was formerly employed as a clerk with the Salvation Army Thrift Store at 7975 Broadway, Lemon Grove, is the new owner-operator of the Lemon Grove Thrift Shop at the same address.

Miss Miller took over the store after the Salvation Army decided to move to a location where a bigger building was available.

The first problem the new owner encountered was that of getting some stock in the new shop when the Salvation Army removed all of its merchandise. Since the changeover about a month ago, the building has slowly filled with items for purchase.

Grand Jury Takes Aim At County Departments

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — San Diego County Planning, Public Works, Adoptions, and Assessor's departments came under fire Friday by the 1971 Grand Jury.

The heat was contained in a year-long 110-page report issued Friday. Many of the items have already been corrected.

On Adoptions: "... workers exhibited extreme rudeness, vulgarity, untruthfulness... created needless delays and trouble in processing adoptions."

Planning Commission: The report criticized zoning ordinance which it says needs updating. "... shown concern about developers devouring open spaces... and destruction of watersheds and water channels."

Public Works: "Some officials have larger offices than needed while workers have so little they cannot work efficiently." No valid reason could be found for widening El Camino Real to four lanes south of Carlsbad to Encinitas Blvd.

Assessor: Critical of staff members dealing in real estate. Assessor E. C. Williams has already denied any semblance of wrongdoing in reply to an earlier published Grand Jury statement.

Bill To Aid Colleges

The first in a series of legislative measures to help overcome the problems caused in California's 93 community colleges by the 1971 law lowering the age of majority to 18 was introduced this week in the State Legislature by Senator Alfred Alquist (D-San Jose).

Dr. Lolyd E. Messersmith, executive director of the California Junior College Association, which is sponsoring the bill, said the measure is aimed at preventing the colleges from losing more than $12 million in state funds and at simplifying a portion of the procedures. The bill, SB 94, eliminates the designation "defined adult" in both community colleges and high schools, which also face a potential loss of about $5 million as a result of the 1971 law.

The major loss would occur as a result of the reclassification of approximately 100,000 community college students from "regular" to "defined adult" status, and would reduce state support of the colleges by an estimated $12.3 million next year. The state foundation program currently provides $123 less per student each year for defined adult students than for regular students. In the high schools, state support amounts to $138 less for each "adult" than for regular students.

According to Chester S. DeVore, Southwestern College President, a calculation of last fall's enrollment showed that over five-hundred Southwestern students would fall into the "defined adult" category, which would represent a dollar loss to the college of approximately $50,000.
